

Katherine Wang
STUDENT OF THE MONTH
Mountain View High School
January, 2020

Junior

Mountain View High School is proud to present Katherine Wang as January's Student of the Month.

Katherine is an excellent student and a curious and avid learner who always manages to challenge herself in all aspects of her life. Katherine is taking AP Calculus BC, AP Computer Science, AP US History, AP Physics 1, Honors American Literature, and AP French.

In addition to these extremely rigorous classes, Katherine is involved in an impressive club on campus. Just this year, she started a Math Modeling Club, which teaches students about applied math in the real world and allows them to participate in competitions to potentially earn scholarships. Outside of school, Katherine is involved in competitive rhythmic gymnastics, where she has competed for the past 9 years. Throughout the year she travels to local, national and even international competitions. She is also a team captain at her gymnastics club, where she helps organize events from Chinese New Year's performances at Westfield Valley Fair Mall, to performances at the grand opening of the Chase Center in San Francisco. On top of this already incredibly busy schedule, Katherine manages to find time to teach Computer Science at Blach Intermediate School's Girls Who Code program.

Katherine is clearly an outstanding student, and we are proud to have her as part of the Mountain View High School community. Congratulations to Katherine Wang, January's Student of the Month!
