Mountain View High School is proud to recognize Richard Wang as our September 2023 Student of the Month.

We are delighted to introduce Richard Wang, an exceptional student whose remarkable achievements and outstanding character have earned him the title of Mountain View High School's Student of the Month. Richard is an exemplary student at MVHS, as shown by his teachers describing him as a "Mature principled, and ethical member of our community." He also shows his selfless spirit by volunteering at Spartan Start this past year to welcome new students to MVHS. His favorite class, Calculus BC, stands as a testament to his perseverance and collaborative spirit, as it challenged him, and he pushed through with the support of both his peers and teacher.

Outside the classroom, Richard has shown extreme dedication to health and fitness. Richard enjoys wrestling and weightlifting, which can be seen in school as well. Richard is the president of the Bodybuilding Club at MVHS and is also part of MVHS' wrestling team. Both of these achievements show Richard to be a prominent and beneficial member of our MVHS community.

Richard's interests extend far beyond academics and sports. An avid reader of novels, he finds inspiration within the pages of books. Richard especially enjoys reading about aerospace and astronomy, which underscores his dreams for the future.

Having immigrated to the US in 2016, he navigated the challenges of change with grace and resilience. Many of Richard's favorite memories revolve around the little moments that make high school truly memorable. He especially enjoyed time spent with friends, should it be talking during Brunch and Lunch, or training with his teammates for wrestling. This culminated in one of his favorite memories, playing at the CCS Championships with his friends cheering him on. Richard also enjoyed many of the bigger events at MVHS. He especially enjoyed Homecoming and Prom at Great America, which were both unique and fun.

Richard Wang's exceptional journey embodies the values of dedication, community, and resilience that we hold dear at MVHS. His unwavering commitment to academic excellence, leadership, and personal growth makes him a deserving recipient of the Student of the Month recognition. As he continues to forge his path toward a future in astronomy and aerospace, we are confident that he will leave a memorable mark wherever he chooses to go.
